BOOTCAMP

Statement of Attainment — Entry into Working Safely in Construction A [from CPC08, RII & and HLT]

Overview

Construction is one of Australia's largest industries, providing a range of employment benefits. And it's not just for the boys! Trade in the stereotypes of trades being for males and discover what a construction career can offer you.

This bootcamp is designed for those seeking to enter the construction industry, learning entry level competencies for a range of construction roles. You will learn to work safely across a range of roles; at heights; in confined spaces; and operating elevated work platforms. You will gain the skills to identify and report a range of asbestos products and materials, as well as training in first aid.

Bootcamp Construction A focusses on practical application, developing your skills in our high risk training facilities and providing you with a taste of the construction industry, along with the opportunity to meet industry professionals.
