About us

We are a third-generation family-owned business. We pride ourselves in the projects we undertake and aim to provide a positive and enjoyable working culture. We have a number of long-standing employees, testament to the camaraderie we foster. Hornicks have had a long rich history in the construction industry with the founding entity formed over 80yrs ago. For the last 30yrs we have focused on the construction of water retaining structures for various local councils, predominantly along the east coast of Australia. Hornicks are currently the most prolific builders of concrete water reservoirs in the southern hemisphere.
